School Report.

The whole number of different scholars attending school in town the past year has been 172—an increase of nineteen over last year's record. There were 172 weeks of school in town this year, as compared with 142 weeks last year,—a very gratifying increase in the amount of schooling. The percentage of daily attendance is just about the same as last year; showing that the past year has been an average one as regards regularity of attendance. Had it not been for the poor showing of two schools in this respect, the percentage of daily attendance would have been very much increased. Irregular attendance in these schools proved a veritable evil and interfered greatly with the efforts of the teachers to obtain the best results from their labors. Parents should impress upon their children the importance of being present every half day of school, and of being in their seats promptly at the hour of commencement. Habits of punctuality and regularity, if inculcated in early youth, will follow the child to maturity, and will be of immeasurable benefit to him in the battle of life.

The teachers secured by the School Board the past year proved to be very efficient in their several positions, and in nearly every instance their labors were rewarded with success. If, in one or two instances the best results were not obtained, the Board feel that it was through no fault of the teachers employed, but because their efforts were hampered by the outside influences of those who should have been most interested in the success of the school. Parents should acquaint themselves with the workings of a school by a personal visit, at least twice during the continuance of each term. A visit does much, in many instances, towards correcting an erroneous impression in regard to a teacher's work in the school-room, and while there a few words of approval and commendation would lighten the teacher's labors and encourage her to renewed efforts in behalf of her pupils. A teacher's highest expectations are only realized when she has the hearty co-operation of both parents and scholars.

Some of our school-houses are sadly in need of repairs and a reasonable appropriation should be made at the annual meeting for this purpose.

The condition of affairs which exists in No. 6 is deplorable, as a single term of school in each of the two school-houses is far from satisfactory to all concerned, and should be remedied in some way.

While this year compares favorably with past years in the success and improvement of our schools, let us not be satisfied with this, but by liberal appropriations and re-doubled exertions make the coming year remarkable for the energy displayed in educational matters.

Respectfully submitted,

J. E. S. WALKER,	} School Board:
H. F. TILTON,
DICK E. BURNS,
